In particular, these obligations may include, inter alia, the following:

- Manufacturers and importers are under the obligation of pre-registration and ongoing registration of substances manufactured or imported by, inter alia, submitting a technical report and a chemical safety report.
- Downstream users are under the obligation to consider the safety of their uses of substances and to apply appropriate risk management measures in accordance with the safety data sheets received or prepared by them.
- An authorization will be required for certain substances of very high concern according to a list to be published by the Chemicals Agency.
